

YOU CAN

put an end to Centerline Streak

The smart design features of Roadtec pavers eliminate centerline segregation and the troubling streak down the middle of the mat that goes with it.

From the way we place and drive the slat conveyors to the unique design of our rear auger assembly, Roadtec pavers are made to pave smooth mats free of centerline and other segregation. Our slat conveyors can be closer together because they are independently driven. Positioning and proximity of augers to conveyors at the rear of the paver, together with our very narrow auger drive plate and the push/pull flight design flushes fresh material to the middle of the mat for consistent density and quality results every time.

"We are very focused on achieving the highest quality finished product possible and the Roadtec pavers have certainly given us a great opportunity for success. There is no question that they have eliminated the centerline segregation that can compromise an otherwise excellent pavement. We are very pleased with Roadtec and the opportunity they afford us to provide an excellent product for our customers."
